

Yes, and only on the conditions that the previous steps are implemented to help the staff to be responsive to the role and the duties he is in charge. The person to consult with is the chairperson of the board.